Adoption and Sheltering Program

Each year, we are able to save more lives because of the life-saving programs we have put into place. Such as adoption counseling (approx. 3,013 animals adopted), fostering (over 400 animals in care daily in a network of 600 foster homes), transports to our rescue partners (over 1,042 animals), and our Community Cat program which worked to rescue hundreds of kittens and friendly cats from the field and released 369 cats back into their outdoor homes. Our Pet Retention programs, which work to keep animals in loving homes and out of the shelter system, saved an additional 1,000+ lives. In 2017, with just these live-saving programs alone, nearly 6,000 animal lives were touched. Our adoption center houses up to 140 ready-to-adopt animals on any given day. Very often, we rescue special needs animals who have been neglected, abandoned, or turned away from other shelters. This includes cats with Feline Immuno-virus (FIV) or Feline Leukemia Virus (FeLV), dogs with heartworm disease, under socialized animals, senior animals, and animals struggling with behavioral issues etc. Though we are hands-on with the most challenging and traumatized animals in our region, Brother Wolf only euthanizes animals who are irretrievably suffering due to medical issues or are too aggressive with no hope of rehabilitation. We believe that each and every animal life matters and our core ethic of Uncompromised Compassion guides our daily work.

Disaster Recovery and Rapid Response

Our Rapid Response Program is deployed to assist with companion animal search and rescue during disasters, as well as working closely with affected shelters to transport out animals to make room for displaced animals from the storm. Brother Wolf has provided

4c (Code: ) (Expenses $ including grants of $ ) (Revenue $ ) immediate response and recovery efforts throughout the Southeast whenever possible. In 2017, we responded to three natural disasters in a very short time period. Our expert staff and volunteers deployed to help animals during three major back-to-back hurricanes. The first being Hurricane Harvey in TX. The second and third being Hurricanes Irma and Nate in FL and Louisiana. Our disaster response comprises of staff, volunteers, and donated resources. These staff and volunteers often remain in the disaster areas for weeks after other organizations have left. In response to the increased frequency and severity of these storms and the demand it has placed on our organization and resources, we launched our "Save The Animals, Save The Earth" campaign. This campaign identifies Global Animal Agriculture as one of the leading causes of climate See Part III, Ln 4c statement

Description
change (also THE leading cause of mass animal cruelty and mass species extinction) and encourages other Animal Welfare Organizations to adopt a public vegan policy to bring about the quickest way to have an impact on the animals and the environment.
Transport Program
Our Transport program saved over 1,042 dogs, cats, and small animals. Animals from overcrowded shelters in the southeast are relocated to our partner rescues in the northeast. These rescues have a high demand for adoptable animals in their areas and communities, which provides better chances at forever homes for many more animals. Each animal receives an interstate health certificate before travel. Our goal is to provide highly adoptable animals who would normally be killed for space in rural shelters a chance to quickly find a forever home. Our transport is an instrumental part of relieving the stress of overcrowded shelters and helping achieve our No-Kill mission around our Asheville location and our Brother Wolf Chapter No-Kill communities.
Sanctuary Program
Brother Wolf is excited to have a capital campaign underway for the Brother Wolf Animal Sanctuary. The Brother Wolf Animal Sanctuary land is located over 80 acres of pastures and forest in Leicester, NC, just 25 minutes from downtown Asheville. The Brother Wolf Sanctuary will provide a peaceful place for animals to heal, learn, rehabilitate, and play as they make their journey to being available for adoption to a loving home. Our plans include an On-site Veterinary Clinic, a Dog Village and Dog Park, Cat Village and Cat Cafe, Welcome Center, Learning Center, a Memorial and Reflection Garden, and also Guest Cabins. The medical clinic will help us significantly cut down on current medical & surgical costs by bringing veterinary services in-house, instead of having to outsource all of our needs. In addition, the clinic will cut down on the amount of time an animal has to wait to see a vet or have a procedure performed. The Dogs will all have access to their individualized living area inside with access to an outdoor fenced yard. The Dog Park will be crucial for the dogs to be able to run around and play- as we have learned that play is an important component of effective rehabilitation. Our cats will enjoy their own building with indoor space and access to a predator proof screened in "Catio" when appropriate. In addition to having companion animals who live at the sanctuary to rehabilitate and then be adopted, we will also have representatives from each "food" animal group who are rescued and living on site. These will be ambassadors of their species: cows, pigs, chickens, goats, sheep, and ducks. Our goal is to help bridge the gap between dog and cat lovers to the notion that all animals are worthy of our care and compassion. And eventually, we hope they will reach a vegan conclusion. The Sanctuary will be an educational resource for the communities and areas youth and also many visitors from all over the world. All with

Description
the desire to learn about our responsibilities we have to our animals, nature, and to be able to connect with the animals and be inspired to live more compassionate lives. Our sanctuary is an integral part in helping all of us reach our No-Kill mission as well as our vision- A time when our community embraces our core ethic of Uncompromised Compassion.
No-Kill Community Development Initiative Our No-Kill mission extends beyond our own community. This is why Brother Wolf implemented our No-Kill Community Development Initiative (NKCDI.) Our NKCDI exists to help some of the most impoverished areas of the Southeast cultivate community support and help to provide the resources and build the programs in each area to create their own No-Kill community. Currently assisting in 3 additional communities outside of Asheville, we continue to see a significant decrease in euthanasia rates throughout those communities. Our NKCDI was started because we were asked every day to take animals from these particular communities in-order to save them from being euthanized. We knew, by taking these animals and not digging deeper into the root of the problem, we were just placing a Band-Aid on a much bigger issue. Brother Wolf understood that if, we were going to continue to help, we would do so strategically. We created a path for long-term sustainable change. A solid foundation for each community to grow and nurture their own No-Kill community. We provided financial support to help lay the groundwork for these life-saving programs. Brother Wolf has continued to support each chapter in many different ways with a goal of each chapter becoming completely self-sustainable so then they can run independently of us and as their own non-profit. Part of our strategy is to teach each chapter how to do high volume adoptions, how to recruit and train volunteers, build a comprehensive foster network, and work with individuals and businesses to cultivate financial support of the No-Kill mission. Each chapter works directly with animal control and the municipal shelters on a daily basis to keep best informed on where the greatest need for animals in the community is. Brother Wolf also provides assessments and recommendations to improve operational processes to struggling organizations in addition to our chapter work.
